The Thrifty Community Has Good Roads and Buys W. S. S.

Seantown Note.
Eph Trittip, prominent livery stable, has got a new pair of glasses, as he expects to attend the "Follies" up to Indianapolis tonight. Eph had quite a time deciding whether to get eye glasses or nose glasses.—"Beantown Bugle" Correspondence in Indianapolis Star.

Great Value of Courage.
It is not clearly understood how valuable is the adjunct of courage in the man or woman, nor that, if accompanied by good judgment it is the most valuable of business assets.—John Brisbane Walker.

UTAH'S GREATEST NEED.
We have many things in Utah to be proud over, and to boast about, from the wonderful copper mines, to the fruit raised in Dixie, yet none of these amount to much, if we do not have the roads which enables the miner and the farmer to get his product to market.
During the war the program for building roads in all parts of the state was delayed, but there is no excuse for delay now, and with plenty of money to do the work with, good roads and Utah should soon mean the same thing.
Jack Sears in his cartoon this week, which is the first of a series that will be printed in this paper, points out clearly the difference between good roads and the kind that is in many parts of the state—far too many. Thrift does not mean lack of enterprise, but just the reverse. Saving money by building good roads, and saving for a rainy day by buying W. S. S. are exactly in line.

Learn to Swim.
Swim every day and you will not develop large, ugly muscles, but beautiful, smooth-working ones under a clean skin, a body that moves with grace, bright eyes and a smile that will carry you anywhere. One of the greatest medical experts in the country has classed swimming as the greatest of exercises, because it uses the whole muscular system, with moderate demand on nerve control.

Stones for Rosaries.
The rosaries sold at Kandahar are extensively manufactured from soft, crystallized silicate of magnesium. This is quarried from a hill about thirty miles northwest of the city, where soapstone and antimony are also obtained in considerable abundance. The stone varies in color from a light yellow to a bluish white, and is generally opaque.

World's Supply of Coal.
A good authority gives the coal areas of the world in square miles as follows: United States, 192,000; British America, 18,000; Great Britain, 12,000; Spain, 4,000; France, 2,000; Germany, 1,800; Belgium, 518; rest of Europe, 100,000; China, 2,000; Japan, 5,000. Coal is found in commercial quantities in 28 of the states and territories of the United States.

AMERICA'S MOST BE-ME-DELED HERO

Sergeant Victor Peterson to whom had just been awarded by General Pershing personally, the Congressional Medal of Honor for having single handedly captured an entire German battery of light field pieces and 14 it against all comers. For this performance France also gave him the Military Medal and the Croix de Guerre and he has been cited for the Victoria Cross, the British Distinguished Service Medal and the Belgian War Cross. Insert: Corporal Berger Loman, also medal winner.

Peculiar Hawaiian Flowers.
It is known that upon many of the summits of the high mountain ridges of the Hawaiian Islands, in the regions of heavy rainfall, are open bogs which support a peculiar and interesting flora. Many species form more or less hemispherical tussocks which rise above the general level of the bog. A showy lobelia with numerous large cream-colored flowers as much as three and a half inches long, peculiar violets and a sundew are found there.

Convert War Savings Stamps Into W. S. Certificates

San Francisco, July 7.—The War Loan organization of the Twelfth Federal Reserve district has just been advised that hereafter war savings stamps may be converted into Savings certificates of $100 and $1,000 denominations according to a new plan of the savings division of the U. S. Treasury department to afford greater conveniences in handling War Savings securities.

The development of the War Savings idea is one that has been urged for sometime in order to attract larger investments. The holder of a sufficient number of Thrift Stamps may now exchange them for a $5 War Savings stamp and in turn the holder of twenty of the $5 War Savings Stamps may convert them into a $100 savings certificate or the holder of two hundred of the $5 stamps may turn them in for a $1000 certificate.

Conversion may be made at all first and second class postoffices and at all banks and trust companies that have qualified as agents of the second class. The treasury savings certificates are to be issued in registered form and will bear the names of the owners. They will yield four per cent interest compounded quarterly as do the war savings stamps. The limit of the individual investment still remains at $1000.

The new treasury savings certificates should prove particularly attractive for the investment of the funds of fraternal societies, labor unions and other civic, social and religious organizations because the interest is added to the principal automatically each quarter, the entire amount being payable at maturity.

Don't Forget To Use Your Spare Time Swatting The Fly

(By Solon R. Barber, B. S.)

There is a certain large dairy that I know well, located in the cattle country of Wyoming that was for a long time noted for its overwhelming abundance of flies. Lucky indeed were the girls who milked to be able to do so one night without being kicked "gally west" by the fly tormented cows. Flies were drownded in the buckets of rich milk. The milk house where the milk was collected, located over a spring, was literally crawling with the filthy pests. Even the cheese manufacturing plant was not guarded by screens and the flies left their microbe laden marks on every cheese. This cheese was shipped all over the country, as an "inspected guaranteed" product.

Think of the responsibility of running such an establishment. Disease can be spread broadcast by allowing carelessness to enter into the operations of such plants, and carelessness was supreme in this dairy. The owner or manager was literally a murderer.

The same responsibility devolved upon the housewife. Her own children may become the prey of some virulent disease merely through the lack of fly control. "Swat the fly" before it is too late.

National Party Paper Nears Million Mark

The National Republican, the national Republican party weekly, published at Washington, has now extended its circulation, it is announced, to ninety per cent of all the counties in the country, and the circulation is growing at such a rapid rate that the hope of party leaders for a million circulation for this national mouthpiece of Republican opinion bids fair to be realized.

The National Republican, issued at the center of national events, prints each week a comprehensive condensed review of the happenings bearing upon national and world politics, gives a survey of newspaper and personal opinion on public issues, prints the important addresses and statements of political bearing, covers weekly the debates and proceedings of Congress while in session and is a sort of continuous handbook of politics and public affairs. The idea is unique in journalism and has proved immensely popular. The reader who wishes to keep upon politics can find no better medium for that purpose.

The National Republican is published and actively supported by Republican national leaders, not as a financial venture, but as a means of political information and education deemed especially essential at this time when the general channels of information are so completely commanded by the party in power. It carries no advertising despite its large national circulation. It prints weekly some sixty thousand words of news and comment.

The National Republican may be had in combination with this paper the combination price for both papers being $3.50 a year.

Subscriptions for the National Republican may be left at this office. The subscription price is one dollar per year.

Custom Hard to Down.
Pens made of feathers were common in the seventh century, but so inveterate was the old habit of writing with reeds on parchment and paper that it continued a long time after the first use of quills. The custom of carrying a pen behind the ear is ancient, as may be seen in the life of St. Odo: "He saw a pen sticking in his ear in the manner of a writer."

Putting It Plainly.
A judge, whose personal appearance was as unprepossessing as his legal knowledge was profound, interrupted a female witness. "Humbugged you, my good woman!" said he. "What do you mean by that?" "Well, my lord," said the witness, "I can't explain it exactly, but if a girl called your lordship a handsome man she would be humbugging you!"

Monarch's Compliment.
A pretty compliment was that Philip IV of Spain, himself a painter, tendered to a greater artist, Velasquez. When Velasquez had finished his famous picture "Las Meninas," which includes not only Philip and his queen, but the artist himself, brush in hand, he asked of the king, "Is anything wanting?" "One thing only," answered Philip; and taking the palette from Velasquez's hands, he painted on the breast of the artist's figure in the picture the Cross of the Order of Santiago, the most distinguished in Spain.

Sunny Dispositions.
I think it was Carlyle who said: "The man who can laugh way down deep in his diaphragm can never commit murder." And he should have added that the man with a whistling disposition can never be mean, abuse a child, betray a friend or refuse to pay his rent.—Fern Howard, in Milwaukee Sentinel.

Cat a Model to Children.
In some of the little books which were published from 1800 to 1850, and a few of them even earlier, one finds the cat frequently set up as a model of good behavior, especially for little girls. She taught them by her example to wash their faces once a day, to look clean and neat, and when they walked out of doors never to step in the wet. One significant sentence reads: "It would be well for little girls to sit as still while they are learning their lessons."

Children's Logic.
"Do you know," said a little fellow of four years of age, "what I thought dark was? A great, huge live thing, the color of black, with mouth and eyes." Another assured his teacher that the wind was alive, for he heard it whistling in the night.
